Waywood Wines

Andrew Wood is an aficionado of the lesser-used grape varieties such as Montepulciano, Sangiovese, Nebbiolo and Tempranillo.

Andrew's passion for winemaking became evident as he described his experience in Europe and his decision to settle in McLaren Vale. We were treated to a tasting of very special wines with individuality and flair. Bob Heinecke prepared and served the supporting dinner. Bob and Jenni matched the food nicely to the Waywood wines.

Visit to Schild Estate

Schild Estate's cellar door facility was an excellent venue for our September meeting. Winemaker Alex MacClelland led us through the tasting and local Lyndoch caterer Table. The bubbly Leonie and staff made sure our glasses were refilled and set a lively tone to the evening. The tasting showed that Schild Estate has a complement of fine wines and a glance at the price list showed some great value as well. The club's own port provided the ideal accompaniment to the luscious dessert.

The next meeting will be a traditional Red Wine Club

Andrew and Lisa Wood, left, brought their wines to Rowland Flat
